9. The reason for the decision and other alternative options considered and rejected:

East Lindsey District Council has a statutory obligation to manage areas of ownership within the Natura 2000 series. The annual cost of continuing as a member of the project is £2,700 per annum, the renewal of our membership is currently budgeted for. The option of renewing our membership to the project is recommended as the most cost effective way of meeting our statutory obligation, as ELDC/Neighbourhood Services do not have the relevant specialist knowledge to administer the management obligation in-house. To be able to do this would have to look to external consultation, or appoint an appropriately skilled officer. Both of these options would be a much greater cost to ELDC, than continuing as a member of the project.
