Background and context

1.1 Background to this programme of work

Lincolnshire district councils are committed to developing an ambitious agenda for improving health and wellbeing in Lincolnshire.

To achieve this, they are focusing on:

- a strategic, long-term approach to improving outcomes
 - a sense of opportunity and ambition
 - district collaboration
 - a holistic view based on social determinants
 - developing system leadership
- The recent Health and Care White Paper and most recent NHS integrated care system policy underline the vital importance of health and care partners working together to focus on prevention and addressing the wider determinants of health.
 - Overall, the current system working and collaboration across Lincolnshire is relatively new in its development compared to other Integrated Care System footprints. Coupled with poor health outcomes overall for communities across Lincolnshire, and as the County has recently begun to think through the post-Covid strategy, the districts have a great opportunity to take a proactive role at this pivotal stage for Lincolnshire in reshaping policy, strategy and delivery and improving outcomes.
 - Building on strong cross-district relationships already in place, and following ICS designation in April, districts have timely opportunity to directly influence and shape the system approach to tackling wider determinants of health, ensuring services and functions are effectively linked in at place and system level to deliver on all district priorities.

1.2 Districts have a key role to play in delivering on the core purposes of the ICS

Integrated Care Systems (ICS) are being designed to serve four purposes – and districts will be key to delivering on these, working in partnership with the NHS, County Council and other key system partners:

Improving population health and healthcare

Districts already play a key role in supporting the system to deliver targeted interventions in response to population health needs – from system to neighbourhood level. They bring a depth of understanding and connection with residents which has proven invaluable in Lincolnshire's Covid-19 response and 'cost of living' challenges.

Tackling unequal outcomes and access

Reducing inequalities is central to the work districts do. For example the work between NHS and district Councils to address inequalities in vaccine uptake, utilising the local knowledge, networks of districts to reach, engage with and influence identified groups. There is a huge opportunity to build on this work and use the strengths of the districts in improving the health of the population across Lincolnshire.

Enhancing productivity and value for money

By coordinating district interventions at system level there is a huge opportunity to make better use of Lincolnshire resources. In addition to a substantial combined budget across the seven district councils, coordination with districts on specific interventions and schemes such as the Towns Fund, homelessness and Homes for England has unlocked >£100m of funding.

Helping the NHS to support broader social and economic development

A strong district focus on economic inclusion and working with communities will be in key to delivering on this ambition as a system.

1.3 Five central questions Lincolnshire districts are seeking to address

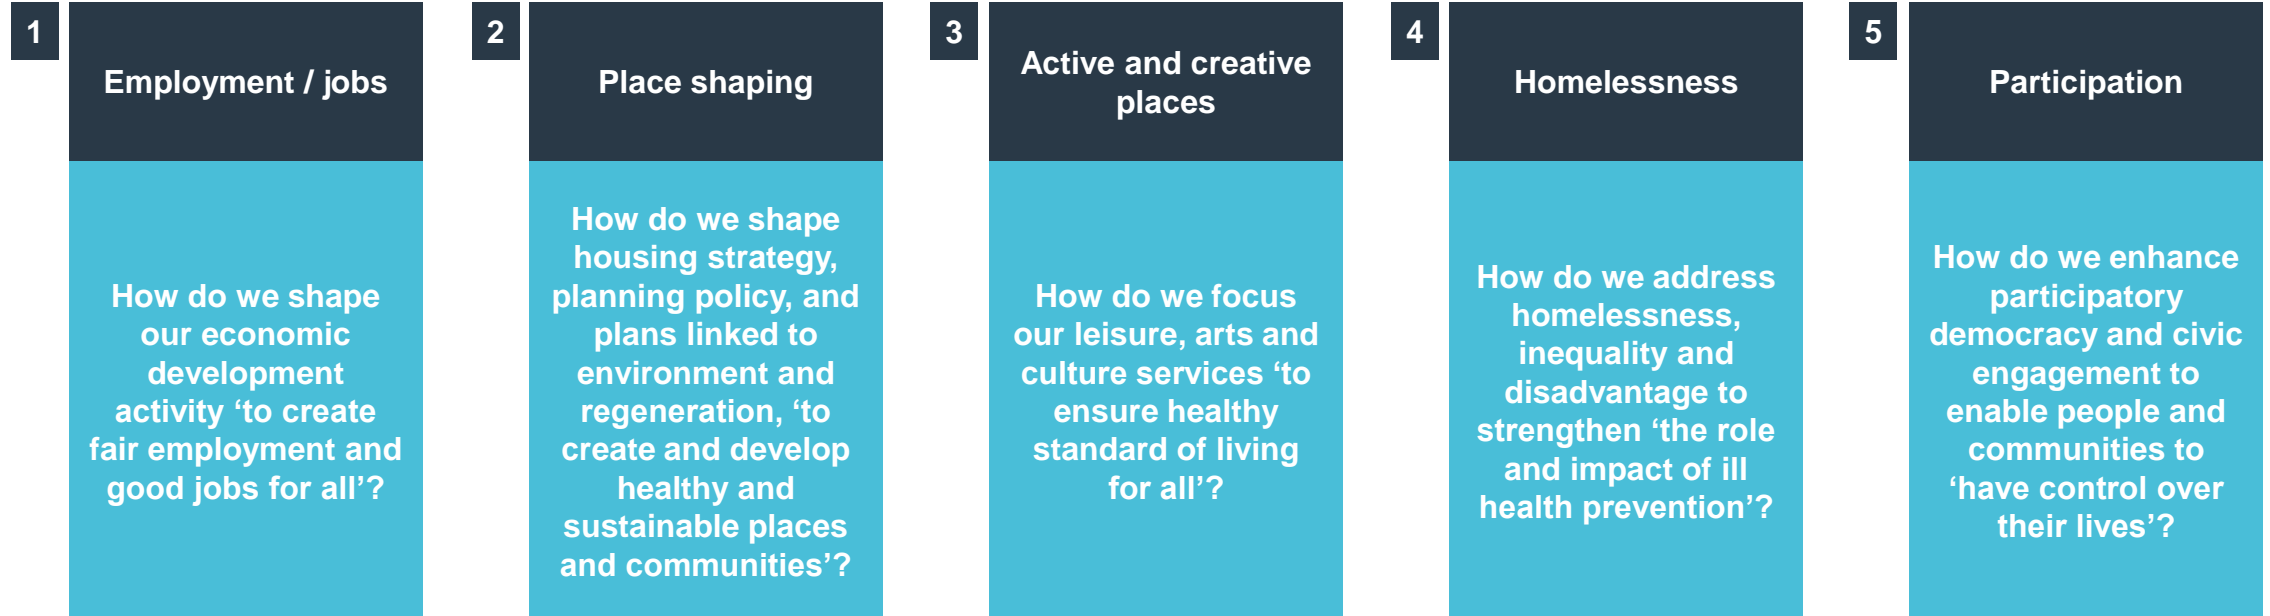

- In 2010, the Marmot Review concluded that health in England had a distinctive gradient: the lower one's social and economic status, the poorer one's health is likely to be.¹
- The original review argued that health inequality could be alleviated by acting within six policy areas and it foresaw Local Government as a pivotal partner in tackling the social determinants of ill-health.
- 10 years on, Marmot reviewed the situation again.² Although the review noted that some local authorities had established effective approaches in addressing health inequality, it also found that for the first time since 1900, life expectancy and health outcomes were no longer rising across the board – and for some demographics, they were in decline.
- These same inequalities contributed to a high and unequal death toll from COVID-19, whilst the pandemic itself revealed both the tight coupling between health and the economy, and the capacity for all levels of government, and actors across sectors, to work together to address complex and urgent problems.³

1.3 Five central questions Lincolnshire districts are seeking to address

In this context, Lincolnshire districts are planning to 'build back better' from the pandemic in designing their health and wellbeing agenda – through a coordinated approach to health and care. They are seeking to address five key questions:

Methodology and development

2.1 Development through five key lever areas that shape places

- Districts structured development around five 'lever' areas in which they are uniquely positioned in the system to influence and can most effectively articulate their offer and work with partners to deliver sustainable change
- Cross-cutting themes, enablers and interaction with the wider integrated care system were also considered

2.2 Overview of programme and engagement

Key enablers

5.1 Key enablers

- System leadership and relationships

- Strong system leadership will be critical to delivering a true shift in focus of health and care to prevention and addressing the wider determinants of health.
- There is an inherent level of complexity to developing integrated care systems – with a lack of clarity in some key areas such as governance, accountability and funding models at different levels of the system.
- Leaders across the system will need to work collaboratively and constructively to navigate these issues as the system continues to develop, focusing on innovation and improvement, relationships and connectivity, individual effectiveness, and learning and capacity building.

- Governance

- District Councils are reflected in the governance arrangements for the ongoing development of the ICS and tackling health inequalities in Lincolnshire.
- District Councils have member representation at the Lincolnshire Health and Wellbeing Board and Integrated Care Partnership
- Senior Leaders represent Districts on the Better Lives Lincolnshire working group
- All district councils have active relationships with the relevant Primary Care Networks (PCNs) to better understand population health and support action at a local level

5.1 Key enablers

- Data and analytics

- Data and analytics will be increasingly central to design and delivery of targeted models of health and care meeting the needs of the population in Lincolnshire
- Districts have identified a number of areas where increased sharing of data would enable them to work with system partners in a more proactive and targeted way, but where there have been challenges to accessing or sharing data with other organisations in the system
- Districts advocate for wider data sharing across partner organisations, linked into target outcomes for the HWB strategy and population health improvements
- System partners should, as a priority, work towards an integrated system data sharing agreement to unlock existing barriers and ensure that all organisations have timely access to the insight they need to plan, design and track performance of interventions.

- Funding

- A collaborative approach has been key to recent successful bids for funding (for example Towns Fund)
- Districts should build on these successes and seek to collaborate in a more structured way with system partners to secure future funding
- Longer term, districts should engage in system-level discussions on funding models
